Guest Speaker

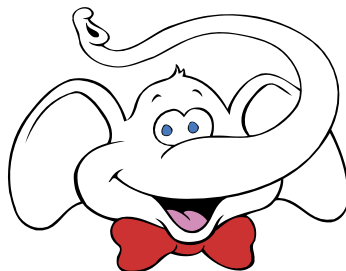

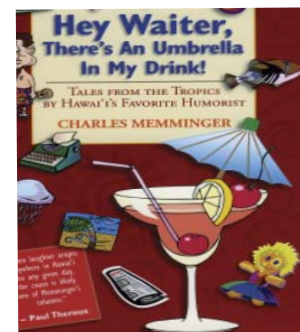

Charles Memminger

Charles Memminger is a national award-winning newspaper humor columnist and screenwriter currently living in Honolulu, Hawaii, with wife, Margie, daughter, Sarah, dog Boomer and various geckos, mongooses and island creatures.

His column, Honolulu Lite, which runs in the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, has twice been named top humor column in the country by the National Society of Newspaper Columnists for newspapers under 100,000 circulation.

His new book, "Hey, Waiter, There's An Umbrella In My Drink!" was just published by Watermark Publishing and contains blurbs of support from the likes of legendary travel writer and novelist Paul Theroux, A.J. Jacobs, editor-at-large of Esquire Magazine and Wally "The Cookie Man" Amos.

His humorous essays and columns have been distributed by the New York Times News Service and he has been published in Newsweek, Better Homes & Gardens, OMNI and other national publications. He also is an award-winning screenwriter who was staff writer on "Baywatch Hawaii," the most popular TV show of all time which was canceled shortly after he was hired to write for it. He claims that was just a coincidence.
